

Write your own constellation story.

Imagine the groupings of dots below are stars in the night sky and you are a primitive person looking up at them. Draw lines to represent a constellation; cut the box out and mount it in your notebook, then make a more detailed and life-like drawing of your constellation below the cut out.

Now create a creation myth for your constellation. Write at least a three paragraph, approximately one page, short-story in your notebook describing how your constellation came to reside in the sky.
